

NEW! For Grades K-6

Moochie Kalala Detectives Club Series!

Mandy, and little brother Kyle, have created the Moochie Kalala Detectives Club to uncover the scientific truth behind their grandpa's crazy stories. Seriously, dinosaurs and people living together? Belugas that sing? After each crazy tale, the kids go on fact-finding missions to actual museums and zoos to meet with scientists and experts to discover the real story!

Cave Girl and the T-Rex

People and dinosaurs living together?
Paleontologist Bill Simpson from The Field Museum helps the detectives dig for the facts.

Grabinators vs. Hoagies of Skunksville

Tornadoes make skunks? Museum of Science and Industry physicist Olivia Castellini helps the detectives sniff out the real story.

The Magic Blocks of Creation

Frank Lloyd Wright used magic blocks for his buildings? The detectives connect with Historical Architect Royce Yeater to shape the case!

Space Dragon of Oceanic Mars

Are there really dragons and water on Mars?
The detectives uncover the truth with Adler Planetarium Astrophysicist Mark Hammergren.

We're All Good at Something

Primatologist Steve Ross from Lincoln Park Zoo helps the detectives uncover who's faster, stronger and smarter - chimps, gorillas or people?

A Whale of a Tale

Do Belugas really talk? The detectives find Shedd Aquarium, animal trainer, Elizabeth Davis who sheds some light on the subject.
